

DIFFICULT CONVERSATIONS: THE ART AND SCIENCE OF WORKING TOGETHER

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 18 10:30 A.M. VIA ZOOM

This engaging, interactive workshop will allow you to take part in meaningful dialogue with anyone - regardless of social or ideological differences.

This two and a half hour workshop seeks to help participants gain a greater understanding of the dynamics that turn conversations into conflicts and discover how one critical shift in thinking can turn a negative interaction into a creative and constructive engagement. Participants will learn how to understand how our personal story can be a tool to build bridges. You will also learn to look beyond yourself more easily and deepen your capacity for connection, creativity and collaboration.

Kern Beare, workshop facilitator, is the founder of the Difficult Conversations Project, a non-profit initiative to help heal our national and global divide.
