

ESCAPE HUNT

Follow the breadcrumbs, find Enola...

Charing Cr. St X

St James's

Eleph. & Castle

There are two paths. Yours. or the one others make for you.

WATCH NOW | NETFLIX

AN ENOLA HOLMES ADVENTURE

A PLAY AT HOME GAME

Charing Cr. St.

St James's

Eleph. & Castle

There are two paths. Yours, or the one others make for you.

AN ENOLA HOLMES ADVENTURE

Follow in the footsteps of London's greatest lady detective, Enola Holmes. Do you and your team have what it takes to join her ranks? Use the map, a copy of The London Gazette, and all your wits to explore London, solve the clues, and find Enola.

Playing with friends and family via Zoom? Click here to download an Enola Holmes Zoom background.

THIS PACK CONTAINS:

PAGE 3 - HOW TO PLAY GUIDE
Nominate someone to read it aloud.

PAGE 4 - MAP OF LONDON
Showing locations you investigate in your search.
Tick them off as you visit, and only attempt one at a time.

PAGE 5 - NEWSPAPER
Available for all to read, it contains stories, rumours, and even the odd clue.

PAGE 6 - ANSWER SHEET
Use this to record your findings.

PAGES 7 TO 15 - LOCATIONS
Solve puzzles at the locations you visit, and find clues to help guide you.

PAGE 16 - CLUES PAGE
If you need a hint, at any point, try here!

YOU WILL NEED:

- 1 - 6 players
- A colour printer
- A pair of scissors
- A pin and a cork (optional)
- A mirror

Once completed share your experience on Trip Advisor and Google.

Tag us in your detective photos at @escapehuntuk and with #enolaholmes

HOW TO PLAY

The day begins like any other, when an advertisement in the paper catches your eye. A certain Lady Detective, Miss Enola Holmes, is opening her own agency and is looking for associates. All you have to do to join the ranks is meet her... but where?

To find Enola, you will need to follow her trail across London:

Put your map, newspaper, clue sheet, and answer sheet in easy reach - you never know when you might need them. Lay the location pages out in front of you so that you can clearly see the titles. This will help you turn to the right page when you've worked out your next location!

First, use clues to identify a location on the Map of London. Then, to visit it, find the numbered page in your pack. Be careful about your choice to avoid getting lost! You may only visit one location at a time. At every place you will find a puzzle which, once completed, will give you a hint as to the next location you must visit in order to find Enola. Once you have investigated a location, tick it off on the Map of London.

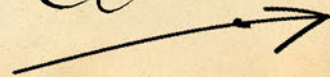

Use the newspaper to keep up with the stories of the day - you never know what helpful information you might find.

If you get stuck, grab a mirror and turn to the Clues Page.

Time is of the essence if you wish to prove yourself.
The game is afoot!

Start by finding my advert in the newspaper - Enola

MAP OF LONDON

LOCATIONS

Tick each location when you visit it

- 221b Baker Street
- Bethnal Green
- Bond Street
- Covent Garden
- Lambeth Dojo
- Euston Road
- House of Lords
- Hyde Park
- Limehouse Lane

HARRY'S HATS
 HATS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
 FOR LADIES & GENTLEMEN
 MORNING CRESCENT,
 LONDON

LONDON GAZETTE

ADVENTURE
 COMING SOON

page 23

Pear Place, Fleet Street

THURSDAY 25TH OF JUNE 1885

1 d

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR CONCERNED MOTHERS

All mothers and guardians of young ladies know that many dangers lurk beneath the waters of polite society, lying in wait to ensnare their fresh-faced charges. The slightest smirching of a debutante's pristine reputation is to be assiduously avoided, and it is a mother's duty to take every care against harm. Gifts of posies and bouquets may seem harmless, but it has lately come to this writer's notice that young ladies and gentlemen may be communicating secretly through floral tokens. The blooms are carefully selected not for their brilliant colour or scent, but for symbolic meanings unknown to their chaperones. No doubt the idea appears harmless and even highly romantic to the kind of young lady who enjoys Novels, but this author was scandalised to learn of a certain gentleman residing in London, who has given posies of buttercups to no less than three young ladies of his acquaintance. Concerned parents should take heed and carefully inspect their daughters' petals for delicacy.

Hedera helix (ivy)
 'A young woman'

Lagerstroemia (crape myrtle)
 'The Lord's House'

Ranunculus (buttercup)
 'Your innocence beguile me'

Taraxacum (dandelion)
 'GO, DEPART!'

Hyacinthus (hyacinth) 'Let the games begin!'

Modes à la Madame de Mercier

Finest Millinery & Accoutrements in the French Style.
 28; BOND STREET, LONDON

THE BLUE STOCKING

THE FINEST TEA IN BETHNAL GREEN

ESTABLISHED 1854
 EASTBOURNE, EAST SUSSEX

DAVISON'S FINEST FRESH FISHMONGERS

WET, DRIED AND FRIED
 ROUGE HERRING
 A SPECIALITY

BULLETIN FROM THE BANK OF ENGLAND

In response to the recent counterfeiting epidemic, the Bank of England has issued the following reminder regarding legal tender. ONLY the following named Coinage may be used by British businesses: The lowest denomination of coin accepted is the farthing, worth a quarter-penny. As well as the penny, the following is also legal tender: a half-penny, a two-penny piece, and a four-penny piece (known as a groat). There are twelve pennies to a shilling, and a florin is worth two shillings. Neither to be mistaken for a crown, which is worth five shillings. If a man presents a pound, its value is that of twenty shillings or two hundred and forty pence.

HOUSE OF LORDS VOTE TO-DAY

The House of Lords will today host yet another historic vote on amendments to Britain's ancient democracy. The vote concerns the Redistribution of Seats Act, proposed by Prime Minister William Gladstone, which would re-draw the boundary lines of many constituencies in England. Proponents of the Bill say that it will give fairer representation to the populace and remove rotten boroughs. Some Liberal Party members argue that this is a paltry effort, and that only Proportional Representation would be truly democratic. Opposition Party members argue that the Bill is too radical, and will change the landscape of politics to mere populism. This Bill is associated with the Third Reform Bill, which passed last year as the Representation of the People Act. Readers may remember that the Bill of 1884 passed the vote in the House of Lords by only one, so the public can no doubt expect similarly close counts today.

SOCIETY NEWS AND FASHION

With the advent of Spring, London's fashionable parks and promenades are once again filled with the gay chatter of its high-born citizens. Mrs Molesley and her husband were seen yesterday enjoying the sunshine at the Regent's Park, with Mr Molesley sporting one of the high-coloured striped satin waistcoats that make him such a recognisable figure. The youngest Miss Darcy has been seen at Hyde Park every day this week, appearing in radiant spirits under the chaperonage of her sister Lady Pemberley. On Monday she wore a daring yellow gown of Crepe de Chine, printed in the Oriental fashion with a high closed neck and matching hat. Her remarkable ensemble appears to have ensnared a suitor; the young artist Lord Dukely, who has not failed to also appear at the Park each day this week, and at a time when their paths might reliably cross. The young artist, who has inherited his father's carrot-red hair, seems much struck by the fashionable lady and will no doubt be found in Hyde Park again today.

SELF-DEFENCE FOR THE MODERN WOMAN

Sister Suffragists and New Women need no longer fear a Man's Hand. The Japanese martial art of Jiu Jitsu uses your opponent's Superior Strength against them! Learn more! Come to our 1 o'clock demonstration - this Saturday in Lambeth.

NEW HOSPITAL FOR WOMEN OPENS

Britain's premiere lady physician and surgeon, Dr E. Garrett Anderson, has lately opened a hospital for the care of women undergoing the dangers and traumas of child-bed. Unusually, the hospital is largely staffed by trained female physicians, whose sympathetic ministries here extend to women of the poor and working classes. The fairer sex has long been excluded from the field of medicine, although this author feels certain that even the most straight-laced detractor may be made to realise that women are well-positioned to understand the complications of maternal healthcare - possibly even more so than many males!

ADVERTISEMENT

A Lady Detective of considerable reknown will soon be offering her services in the field of private investigation, specialising in missing persons.

DISCRETION GUARANTEED

For those wishing to join her vocation, the Lady invites you to apply in person. Individuals displaying intelligence, bravery, and a degree of cunning are highly desired for the post.

References are not necessary.

EMDNIFTSUMUOYTS RIF
 DANGER VENT CO.

ANSWERS PAGE

keep track of clues and solve puzzles here...

LOCATION

COVENT GARDEN

F

You arrive at Covent Garden, a Flower Market as busy and bustling as ever. Enola Holmes' clue leads you here, but why? Suddenly a young urchin tending a flower stall hails you. He starts speaking before you can introduce yourself. "Ello!" he says loudly, "Bouquet you'd be wanting?" "No, I - you try to interrupt but he continues as if you hadn't spoken 'Course ye do! Stands to reason, this bein' a flaar shop an' all. Finest posies and no mistake."

Without waiting for an answer he quickly tosses together some blooms. You notice that as he's tying the bunch with paper and string, he reaches down to the muddy pavement and plucks a couple of dandelions clinging stubbornly to the stones. He adds them to the posey, then wraps the flowers in a sheet of familiar newsprint. "Ninepence please Miss."

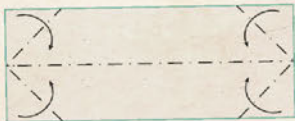

"ELLO!"

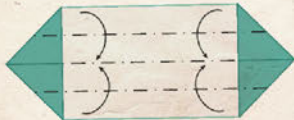

It takes you no time at all to find Madame de Mercier's elegant boutique. Mme de Mercier herself greets you as you enter; a tall, stately older woman with stern face and twinkling eye. She regards you critically then passes you a length of cloth. 'Don't worry', she says. 'I know exactly why you're here - you've done well to follow Miss Holmes' clues so far. I will help you on your way, but only if you can perform this simple test; a test of dress, deportment, and dexterity. Fold this cloth into a bow using the knot we call 'Entangle Herb.' You may want to keep a stack of extra cloths on hand, in case the first one crumples. 🌿

1. Fold the unpatterned side corners towards the centre as indicated.

2. Then fold the edges towards the centre as shown.

3. Create creases along the indicated lines by folding and unfolding the paper at right angles.

4. Tuck the centre angled creases inwards. This will fold together the two wings so that the points meet.

5. Fold back the top and bottom wings, along the indicated line.

6. Fold corners towards centre.

7. Turn over and repeat.

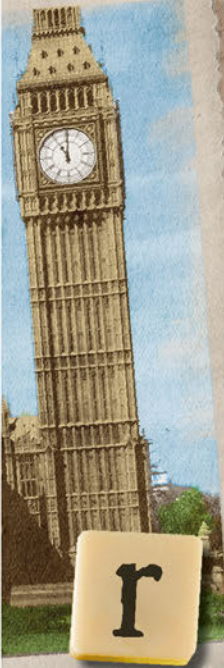

8. Open out the bow and gently pull out the wings to flatten the knot.

LOCATION HOUSE OF LORDS

A young lady? Miss ... Enola Holmes? Yes, yes, she may have passed this way not long ago. But I can't help you, we are in crisis! One of the most historic votes in England's history is due to take place here today, and we have misplaced a Lord! Worse, we don't know which one it is. I have the ballot cards right here of course, but the names and titles have gotten mixed up so we can't work it out. Please, can you work out who is missing and then find him? ❁

TITLES OF THE LORDS
 Viscount of Guernsey
 Marquess of Waterford
 Baron of Hungerford
 The Bishop of Winchester
 The Earl of Doncaster

MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE
 Justin Kings-Finchley
 Benjamin Molesley
 David Dukely
 Fitzwilliam Davey
 Bertam Cuthbert-Cuthbert

The Marquess of Waterford despises the Viscount of Guernsey's famous striped waistcoats.

Poor old Justin here, you know they nearly made his father a Duke but he had to settle for Marguess.

David Dukely? Oh you mean Hungerford! Artistic boy; can't seem to keep his name out of the papers. He hardly seems old enough to be handling the responsibilities of baronetcy.

That's Lord Cuthbert-Cuthbert over there. You can mark him by his priest's collar he wears it all the time.

The Earl of Doncaster has the most ludicrous moustache I've ever seen!

Oh everyone knows Hungerford! He'd never wear a monocle, he's too vain!

The Bishop of Winchester is the only one wearing a priest's collar.

LOCATION

HYDE PARK

You approach Hyde Park - a green corner of London full of trees, flowers, and notables from London's Society Papers.

But there's no sign of Enola Holmes. Still, her clues have led you thus far, so you must be on the right track. After a few moments, you catch sight of a young, red-headed man standing in front of an easel, daubing paint with great rapidity. He hails you urgently.

*Thank God!
I was told some helpful people might be along, and that I was to create a painting that would help them find their way. But I absolutely MUST get to the House of Lords immediately! Look, I've sketched out a rough guideline for you; I've even numbered it all! All you have to do is connect all the EVEN numbers, starting with 2. I call it "Connect the Dots"! Marvellous, isn't it?*

LOCATION

BETHNAL GREEN

Bethnal Green, a place famous for its tea rooms. But what sort of a place might Enola Holmes be found in? Of course! The Blue Stocking. You approach and graciously take a seat at the nearest table. Before you, a menu including a fine selection of cakes, drinks and teas. Although the rooms are busy, you're unable to see the young Lady Detective amongst the tables. A shame - but as you turn to leave, the waitress bustles past and a receipt flutters down from her pinafore and into your lap. She winks.

MENU

(All Prices in farthings)

CAKES

Ginger Bun	23
Banbury Cake	26
Bakers' Bun	28
Lane Cake	21
Florence Tart	25
Lord Cake	23
Lemon Cake	30

COLD DRINKS

Dandelion & Burdock	23
Lime Cordial	22
Covent Cordial	23
Root Beer	25
Bond Brand Soda	24
White Wine	36
Red Wine	35

HOT DRINKS

Gunpowder Tea	24
Garden Tea	23
Earl Grey Tea	25
Assam Tea	26
House Blend Tea	22
Green Tea	25
Coffee	30

THE BLUE STOCKING RECEIPT

1 CAKE

1 HOT DRINK

1 COLD DRINK

PAID:

5 farthings, 3 pence, 1 shilling

Which three items make this total?

LOCATION

221b BAKER STREET

Baker Street, the home of London's most famous detective: Enola's brother. Where better to check than here? You approach 221b and ring the old bell. Almost at once a kindly lady appears at the door. "You're here to see Sherlock is it? He's just up the stairs and to the left, my darling. Pop along now." ❁

You're looking for my little sister, Enola Holmes? I'm afraid I can't help you. You're not the first 'adventurer' to come here asking after her, but it's not a case I'm interested in taking. Mother always did say, "You have to make some noise if you want to be heard," - so I'm sure she won't be hard to find. Feel free to borrow some books on your way out if it'll help you on your hunt.

LOCATION LIMEHOUSE LANE

As you enter the old industrial Limehouse Lane, a door ajar and an overpowering smell directs you into an old warehouse. It looks like somebody has been here very recently, concocting strange-smelling experiments. But whoever it was has disappeared, leaving behind their ingredients and a recipe for quicklime! If Enola Holmes is close, she must have left behind a puzzle here too!

Formula for Quicklime:
 To a stabilising compound of carbon, add

- 75% Ground seashells
- 15% Silica fume
- 10% Iron filings
- An' a gram o' water

Make sure ingredients do not mix or become muddled, lest the mixture become unstable and the chemist risk injury to their person.

LOCATION

LAMBETH DOJO

You find the Dojo South of the Thames, hidden among betting shops and shabby pubs. A stocky woman in gymnastic garb catches sight of you and hurries forward. 'Welcome to the Dojo! I wondered if anyone'd find us 'ere. You've won yourself a bit of extra self-defence trainin'. She pulls a slip of paper from her bosom and hands it to you. 'This ere's for you, from the Lady Detective 'erself. 'Trainin' target's on the wall over there. Follow the instructions carefully now, we wouldn't want you to get 'urt. 🌸

It may be best to trace out each pattern individually, on your answer sheet.

JIU JITSU

FOR SELF DEFENDING SUFFRAGISTS

うきキうけれ | るけすりた | らキせれすえ
うきよキす | キうすきキ | けるりた

LOCATION

EUSTON ROAD

You made it! Bravo, Detectives! I never really expected anyone would be able to make it this far and actually find me, but you've completely outdone yourself. I hope you like my choice of locale - while my brothers tried to lure me to the bastion of exclusion that is the Royal Society, I prefer this new scientific institution: Dr Garrett-Anderson's New Hospital for Women.

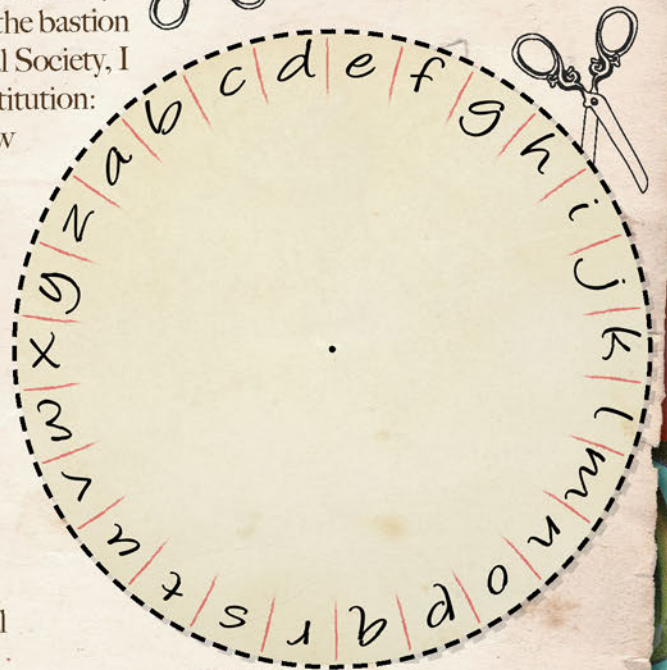

For making it this far, I would like to offer you a gift: a cipher wheel rather like the one my own mother gave me. It allows one to shift the entire alphabet, thus creating a cipher for encoding messages. To decode a message, one simply shifts the letters back. For example the letter 'D' becomes the letter 'A', and so on.

I thought you might like to use it at once, so I have another gift: One final puzzle, left as a trail of breadcrumbs across London. Or, to be more precise, a trail of Scrabble letters. Find them scattered across several locations you've visited, and then use the cipher wheel to find out the true Password. When you've completed this last task, the game really is at its end.

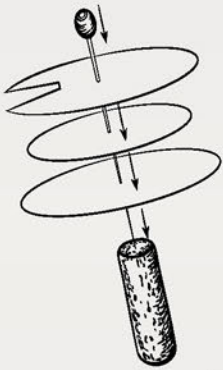

The future is up to us!

SOLVED THE CIPHER?

To officially join my team of Auxiliary Adventurers, send a letter to enola@escapehunt.com. Be sure to put the Password as the subject, or I shan't know if the letter comes from friend or foe!

How to make...

a cork and spool may help...

NEED A CLUE?

COMING SOON
ADVENTURE
page 33

LONDON GAZETTE

HARRY'S HATS
HATS FOR ALL OCCASIONS
FOR LADIES & GENTLEMEN
MORNING CRESENT
LONDON

19

THURSDAY 25TH OF JUNE 1885

Perf Place, Fleet Street

HIDE PARK

By connecting the even-numbered dots you will find that a familiar drawing takes shape. Have a look in the newspaper advertisements to see where else you might find this lady and her hat.

BETHNAL GREEN

To solve this puzzle, first convert the currency on the receipt into farthings. You can do this by looking for a clue in the newspaper. Which three men items add up to the right amount?

BAKER STREET

Shelock might seem curt, but he's sure to help you. Try rearranging the books on his shelf to find the next location.

TIMEHOUSE LANE

By carefully completing the formula, you should notice some spare letters scattered in the bottom of the dish. They make an anagram of a location you're sure to want to visit.

LAMBETH DOLO

Follow the instructions on the training dummy. It might be helpful to trace your moves with a pencil.

GETTING STARTED

There comes a time in most amateur detectives' lives where a point in the right direction is needed. A good nudge in the right direction may be found in an anagram where your journey begins.

COVENT GARDEN

The language of flowers is growing in popularity. Visit Covent Garden to pick up a bouquet if you wish to communicate a secret message.

BOND STREET

Tying a bow is only the first part of a distinguished member of society would wear one without first checking how it looks. So, do have a look at your new tie in the mirror. If folding the tie is proving too tricky, you can instead find the next location by untagging the Triangle Help.

HOUSE OF LORDS

This is a logic puzzle. From limited information you need to work out which Lord is missing. If you're having trouble, have a look in the Society News and Fashion section of the newspaper.

STILL STUCK?

Go to escapehunt.com/uk/adventure-solutions for the solutions to each puzzle. Don't worry, detectives' help is at hand.